Apps4Access on Capitol Hill

Improving accessibility through innovative technology

In the week before the 20th Anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Committee on Disability Power and Pride is proud to work with AT&T to host "Apps4Access": an event that will highlight how innovative applications are helping improve accessibility for people with disabilities.

The event will showcase applications, across a variety of platforms, that currently exist, and attendees will have the opportunity to experience first-hand how innovations improve the lives of persons with disabilities. Representatives from a range of companies will demonstrate apps, and will discuss what the bright future of apps holds for improved accessibility.

Following the showcase, there will be a moderated panel discussion on what steps can be taken to improve quality and increase awareness of existing applications. The panel will feature representatives from both the disability community as well as the telecom and applications industries.

We hope you will join us for what is sure to be an exciting and informative event
